CAUTION

An unknown bank robbery suspect is wanted for his alleged role in five robberies in the East Bay area. The suspect was dubbed the "Button Down Bandit" because he is described as wearing a long-sleeved, button-down shirt. The suspect enters a bank and presents a teller with a demand note and also verbally demands money. In a robbery on March 12, 2013, the suspect entered a bank in Pleasanton, California. The suspect presented a teller with a demand note, which read "This is a robbery give me all the 100$ 50$ 20$ now no dye packs". The bank robber also verbally demanded money. He walked out of the bank with an undisclosed amount of money. The suspect is believed to be connected to the following bank robberies:

- May 29, 2013 - Bank of America, 2545 Main Street, Oakley, Calif.
- May 25, 2013 - Wells Fargo Bank, 3365 Deer Valley Road, Antioch, Calif.
- May 24, 2013 - U.S. Bank, 2890 North Main Street, Walnut Creek, Calif.
- March 12, 2013 - Wells Fargo Bank, 4767 Hopyard Road, Pleasanton, California
- March 6, 2013 - Chase Bank, 1510 Palos Verdes Mall, Walnut Creek, California

REWARD

The FBI is offering a reward of up to $2,500 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the suspect.
